

FRENCH CAFÉ

A Ten-Minute Comedy Duet

by
David Burton

Brooklyn Publishers, LLC

Toll-Free 888-473-8521

Fax 319-368-8011

Web www.brookpub.com

Copyright © 1997 by David Burton
All rights reserved

CAUTION: Professionals & amateurs are hereby warned that French Café is subject to a royalty. This play is fully protected under the copyright laws of the United States of America, Canada, the British Commonwealth and all other countries of the Copyright Union.

RIGHTS RESERVED: All rights to this play are strictly reserved, including professional and amateur stage performance rights. Also reserved are: motion pictures, recitation, lecturing, public reading, radio broadcasting, television, video and the rights of translation into non-English languages.

PERFORMANCE RIGHTS & ROYALTY PAYMENTS: All amateur and stock performance rights to this play are controlled exclusively by Brooklyn Publishers, LLC. No amateur or stock production groups or individuals may perform this play without securing license and royalty arrangements in advance from Brooklyn Publishers, LLC. Questions concerning other rights should be addressed to Brooklyn Publishers, LLC. If necessary, we will contact the author or the author's agent. PLEASE NOTE that royalty fees for performing this play can be located online at Brooklyn Publishers, LLC website (<http://www.brookpub.com>). Royalty fees are subject to change without notice. Professional and stock fees will be set upon application in accordance with your producing circumstances. Any licensing requests and inquiries relating to amateur and stock (professional) performance rights should be addressed to Brooklyn Publishers, LLC. You will find our contact information on the following page.

Royalty of the required amount must be paid, whether the play is presented for charity or profit and whether or not admission is charged. Only forensics competitions are exempt from this fee.

AUTHOR CREDIT: All groups or individuals receiving permission to produce this play must give the author(s) credit in any and all advertisement and publicity relating to the production of this play. The author's billing must appear directly below the title on a separate line where no other written matter appears. The name of the author(s) must be at least 50% as large as the title of the play. No person or entity may receive larger or more prominent credit than that which is given to the author(s).

PUBLISHER CREDIT: Whenever this play is produced, all programs, advertisements, flyers or other printed material must include the following notice:

Produced by special arrangement with Brooklyn Publishers, LLC

<http://www.brookpub.com>

TRADE MARKS, PUBLIC FIGURES, & MUSICAL WORKS: This play may include references to brand names or public figures. All references are intended only as parody or other legal means of expression. This play may contain suggestions for the performance of a musical work (either in part or in whole). Brooklyn Publishers, LLC have not obtained performing rights of these works. The direction of such works is only a playwright's suggestion, and the play producer should obtain such permissions on their own. The website for the U.S. copyright office is <http://www.copyright.gov>.

COPYING from the book in any form (in whole or excerpt), whether photocopying, scanning recording, videotaping, storing in a retrieval system, or by any other means, is strictly forbidden without consent of Brooklyn Publishers, LLC.

TO PERFORM THIS PLAY

1. Royalty fees must be paid to Brooklyn Publishers, LLC before permission is granted to use and perform the playwright's work.
2. Royalty of the required amount must be paid each time the play is performed, whether the play is presented for charity or profit and whether or not admission is charged.
3. When performing one-acts or full-length plays, enough playbooks must be purchased for cast and crew.
4. Copying or duplication of any part of this script is strictly forbidden.
5. Any changes to the script are not allowed without direct authorization by Brooklyn Publishers, LLC.
6. Credit to the author and publisher is required on all promotional items associated with this play's performance(s).
7. Do not break copyright laws with any of our plays. This is a very serious matter and the consequences can be quite expensive. We must protect our playwrights, who earn their living through the legal payment of script and performance royalties.
8. If you have questions concerning performance rules, contact us by the various ways listed below:

Toll-free: 888-473-8521

Fax: 319-368-8011

Email: customerservice@brookpub.com

Copying, rather than purchasing cast copies, and/or failure to pay royalties is a federal offense. Cheating us and our wonderful playwrights in this manner will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law. Please support theatre and follow federal copyright laws.

FRENCH CAFÉ

by
David Burton

CAST: MANAGER and WAITRESS

MANAGER: (In a snobby French accent) Excuse me, Madam. Are you looking for something?

WAITRESS: (In a deep country accent) Nope! Found it.

MANAGER: I don't understand. Madam, I don't believe you belong here.

WAITRESS: I sure do. This is that French eatin' place, ain't it?

MANAGER: Indeed it is.

WAITRESS: Then I'm at the place I set out for.

MANAGER: Do you realize this is a very expensive place? This is one of the finest eating establishments in the city.

WAITRESS: Good, then I'm really in the right place. The more 'spensive the better.

MANAGER: But Madam, you need a reservation to eat here.

WAITRESS: Don't neither!

MANAGER: I assure you, it is required. And you would need proper attire. Look at the people coming in. See how eloquently they're dressed.

WAITRESS: That's not for me. I don't intend to do no eatin' here...at least not right away.

MANAGER: Thank goodness! Madam, this is a cafe. Why would you be here for any other purpose?

WAITRESS: 'Cause I'm auditionin'!

MANAGER: Auditioning?

WAITRESS: Sure. When ya' try out for somethin' at a fancy place, don't ya' call it that?

MANAGER: Uh... yes, sometimes. But this is a cafe. We serve food. What could you possibly be auditioning for?

WAITRESS: A waitresin' job...that's what! (loudly, to imaginary customer) Bye now, come again. (to MANAGER) See...I'm friendlier than a puppy dog.

MANAGER: Madam, don't be funny. And do not speak to our patrons.

WAITRESS: Who's tryin' to be funny? I been puttin' food on the table before you ever started workin' here, sassy britches.

MANAGER: But Madam, this is the most exclusive place in town.

WAITRESS: Don't I know it. I heared how good ya'lls food was, and I thought, I just gotta get a job at that there high class joint.

MANAGER: I don't think we're taking any applications for a waitress today. But thank you for coming in. Now you can tell all your bumpkin friends that you were inside a fancy restaurant. As a treat, I'll personally escort you to the door. Good day.

WAITRESS: Hold it! Hold on just a cotton pickin' minute. What are ya' rushin' me out fer? (loudly) Ya' got rats or somethin'?

MANAGER: Shh! Keep your voice down! Hardly. This is an immaculate restaurant for the elite of society.

WAITRESS: I seen in the paper where there's a waitresin' job to be had at this here rest-e-rant.

MANAGER: Oh yes, about that. I don't know how to put this...

WAITRESS: Don't worry about puttin' it no certain way. Just slop it on the table like ya' do them French gourmet meals.

MANAGER: I don't exactly believe you would be the right person for the job.

WAITRESS: 'Course I would. Ya' don't have to worry about me lackin' no experience. And I did it the hard way. Started by sweepin' up and cleanin' bathrooms. Thought I was high class when they let me scrub the dishes. That beat cleanin' toilets all to pieces. Finally, I got so good they had to let me do some waitresin'. I done that ever since.

MANAGER: You aren't still employed with that company?

WAITRESS: I already worked three or four places, and I did good at every place, 'ceptin the one where some high fulutin woman made me mad. I told her a thing or two. She mighta' looked all fancy-like comin' in, but she was wearin' chicken fried steak and gravy goin' out.

MANAGER: This is certainly not the job for you. You would not like it. All day, women in fancy outfits would be looking down their noses at you, making fun of the way you talk and the way you look.

WAITRESS: What's the matter with the way I look? And as fer talkin', I speak real good. I can't say none a' that French talk, but the ad didn't say nothin' 'bout speakin' the language. I say you should have 'sperience. I got lots a' 'sperience, so here I am.

MANAGER: Uh...uh... Have you ever worked in a nice restaurant before?

WAITRESS: You betcha'. I worked in more nice places than I got teeth in my mouth.

MANAGER: Not all that many, eh?

WAITRESS: Enough to learn my craft. I worked at a nice Italian place once.

MANAGER: Really?

WAITRESS: Yep. Over there at Pizza World. Ya' ever heard of it? (to another customer) Hey there! Ya'll enjoy the meal, ya' hear?

MANAGER: Madam, I do not have time for this. It is with great sorrow in my heart that I tell you we will not be able to hire you. You should go quickly before the other jobs disappear. There are many toilets just waiting to be cleaned.

WAITRESS: I ain't goin' nowhere. There's a job open here, and I'm plenty qualified.

MANAGER: I apologize, but we're looking for someone a bit different. You lack a certain "Je ne se quoi".

WAITRESS: Jenny says what? I'm confused here. Who's Jenny?

MANAGER: (rolls eyes) I meant class. We're looking for our staff to exude a certain level of culture.

WAITRESS: I've got plenty of class. I got some outfits that just scream culture. Truck drivers won't be able to stay out of this place. My friend Lucy made em' all herself. She stays home with her eight young-uns, so she's got plenty a' time to sew. Me, I always gotta work. Now are you gonna audition me or what? I can't wait to get into one of them skimpy little French uniforms. I wouldn't mind losin' a little fat if it don't fit right.

MANAGER: The proper word is interview...not audition. I know you would be a delight as a waitress. But maybe you should apply somewhere on the other side of town. I have heard of a restaurant that might perfectly fit your charming, country personality.

WAITRESS: Where's that?

MANAGER: I think the name is, "The Hungry Hog."

WAITRESS: Are you tryin' to be funny?

MANAGER: No, Madam, I detest humor.

WAITRESS: Well, you'd better not be poking fun at me. I'll knock that sissy little smirk off yer' face if you ever do.

MANAGER: There is truly a restaurant by that name. I was not trying to be capricious.

WAITRESS: Weren't tryin' to be what?

MANAGER: Capricious. It means humorous...funny.

WAITRESS: Oh. Well, I ain't had no food at that joint. Ya' say it's nice?

MANAGER: Nice enough to suit your elegant taste, I assure you.

WAITRESS: How's the food? Ya' been there?

MANAGER: Certainly not. I value my stomach.

WAITRESS: Well, what'cha recommendin' it for, then?!

MANAGER: I just thought it might suit your wide array of talents as a waitress.

WAITRESS: It sounds greasy. Christina don't work in no greasy joints. I have to be able to eat the food. I can't have too much grease. If I munch on greasy food, my belly gets awful queasy. Sometimes when I belch, you can hear it all the way down the street.

MANAGER: Please, Madam.

WAITRESS: And worms. Can you believe I had them big intestine worms once?

MANAGER: Madam, be quiet. You're making me most uncomfortable.

END OF FREE PREVIEW